WCTRS (World Conference on Transport Research Society) started in Rotterdam in 1977 as a forum of bridging transport researchers and practitioners. It is registered as an international academic and non-profit society under the Swiss Law. It now includes eminent scholars covering all modes of transport, all approaches from engineering, economics to policy making as well as from practice to theory, and all regions from developing, emerging to developed countries. This “Diversity” with “Cooperative bridging between differently characterized people” is the most noteworthy “Asset” of WCTRS, which cannot be found anywhere else in the world.

WCTRS aims to utilize the diverse human resources among its outstanding members for the intensive development of new research frontiers and capacity building amongst young scholars and researchers.

The President of WCTRS Prof. Yoshitsugu HAYASHI (Nagoya University, Japan)

A Message from the President

WCTRS provides a forum for the interchange of ideas among transport researchers, managers, policy makers, and educators from all over the world, from a perspective which is multi-modal, multi-disciplinary, and multi-sectoral. The role of the society includes supporting developing countries. The Society has become a primary forum for such international exchanges in transport; the World Conferences are the place where leading transport professionals from all countries and areas convene to learn from one another.

General Introduction of Society

There is an urgent need to involve transport as a major sector in the climate change negotiation. WCTRS can help UNFCCC and the IPCC to promote this process.

WCTRS (World Conference on Transport Research Society)

The WCTRS covers multi-modal, multi-disciplinary, and multi-sectoral fields. The members span almost all aspects of transportation research, planning, policy and management. The World Conferences held every 3 years mirror this breadth of interests. 67 countries are represented in the WCTRS, with more than 1,500 members.

President: Anthony May (University of Leeds, UK)
Chair of Scientific Committee: Yoshihito Hayashi (Nagoya University, Japan)

PUTTING TRANSPORT INTO CLIMATE POLICY AGENDA

- Recommendations from WCTRS to COP18 -

WCTRS SIG11 (Special Interest Group11) - Transport and the Environment

The SIG11 aims at seeking ways to establish effective mechanisms for mitigating environmental degradation due to transport in the international domain. The following topics are researched: a) Comparing the emission of greenhouse gas and air pollution between countries and cities, b) Diagnosing transport system and its resulting global and local environmental degradation and prescribing countermmeasure policies, and developing an evaluation system of their performance, c) Providing scientific instruments for evaluation of international mechanism for environmentally sustainable transport and the methods to collect the necessary financial resources.

What can we get from WCTRS?

The WCTRS (World Conference on Transport Research Society) provides a forum for the interchange of ideas among transport researchers, managers, policy makers, and educators from a perspective, which is multi-modal, multi-disciplinary, and multi-sectoral. Every three years, the tri-annual World Conferences are the place where transport experts and professionals from all countries convene to learn from one another. The next WCTR will take place during 10-15 July 2016 in Shanghai.

Being a member represents the following sources of interest and benefits:

- a truly international network of transport academics and practitioners, which is the only such worldwide network: more than 1400 experts interested in transport research, representing about 75 countries.

- a wide variety of Special Interest Groups (SIGs), each dedicated to a specific academic topic from mode specific policy and modelling to well-being seeking solutions on economic development, climate change and disaster resilience.

- a free on-line subscription to the Society’s two Journals: Transport Policy and Case Studies on Transport Policy

- a free digital copy of the proceedings of past conferences.

- best conference papers published in partner journals, which each SIG is associated with.

- SIGs’ outreaching to international society such as ITF, World Bank, UNFCCC conferences, etc.

- WCTRS Young Initiatives including the WCTRS-Y conference, grants award to young researchers, and dedicated newsletters and job information.

Your membership can also be a way for you to contribute to the planning of the World Conference in Shanghai in 2016 through participating in Special Interest Groups and other Society’s activities.
