ABSTRACT

Ho Chi Minh City has emerged as a dynamic city with highest population compared to the other provinces and cities in Vietnam. Current traffic situation of HCMC are getting more complex. Therefore, many authorities and city leaders are considering transport policies for economic development. Evaluating general overviews, causes and issues of the transport of HCMC is one of important practices for better urban transport in order to achieve reasonable approaches while the basic solution is implementation of the Transport Mater Plan toward 2020 approved by the Prime Minister.
